RE: 2016-98-030

Dear Ms. De Lee:

Pennsylvania's Solicitation of Funds for Charitable Purposes Act (Act), 10 P. S. § 162.1 et seq., requires organizations soliciting contributions in Pennsylvania to register with the Bureau of Charitable Organizations (Bureau) unless they are specifically excluded or exempt from the Act's requirements.

It appears that your organization may be required to register pursuant to the Act.

You can obtain further information and a registration packet by visiting the Bureau's website at <http://www.dos.state.pa.us/charities>. If you do not have access to the Internet, you may request a registration packet by contacting me directly at (717) 787-0701.

Please respond to this letter within thirty (30) days of your receipt of it by either becoming properly registered or providing the Bureau with evidence that your organization is either excluded or exempt from the Act's requirements.

If your organization is required to register, the following information must be submitted to the Bureau with your organization's registration statement:

1. The total number of Pennsylvania residents, businesses, corporations, and foundations that have contributed to your organization, broken down by year, beginning with the date your organization first solicited contributions in Pennsylvania;
2. The total amount of contributions your organization has received from Pennsylvania residents, businesses, corporations, and foundations, broken down by year, beginning with the date your organization first solicited contributions in Pennsylvania; and
3. Copies of all contracts between your organization and any professional solicitors or fundraising counsels responsible for your organization's fundraising activities in Pennsylvania since your organization first solicited contributions in Pennsylvania.

Please send all registration documents and the information requested in questions 1 through 3 above to my attention at: 212 North Office Building, Harrisburg, PA 17120.

If you do not return the appropriate registration documents or provide evidence that your organization is excluded or exempt within 30 days, a Cease and Desist Order will be issued ordering your organization to immediately stop all fundraising activities in Pennsylvania. Because Section 17(b)(3) of the Act, 10 P. S. § 162.17(b)(3), authorizes the Bureau to impose fines of up to $1,000 per violation and additional penalties of up to $100 per day, I urge you to give this matter your immediate attention. By doing so, you may avoid having this matter forwarded to the Bureau's Prosecuting Attorney for appropriate follow-up.

If you have any questions concerning this matter, please contact me directly at (717) 787-0701.

I look forward to your prompt cooperation and thank you in advance for your time and attention to this matter.

Rob,

I spoke to my supervisor on this case and he said we need the total amount of contributions from PA residents back to 2003 because that is the last approved registration we have for your organization. We also need the total amount of contributions received from all donors back to 2003. If you want another request in letter form, I can provide that. It seems that upper management is now requiring us to obtain that information on all years that do not have an approved registration.

Sorry for any confusion on this request.

If you have any questions, I can be reached at my direct line listed below or at this email address.

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Americans for Peace Now, Inc. (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statement of financial position as of December 31, 2014, and the related statements of activities, functional expenses and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Americans for Peace Now, Inc. as of December 31, 2014 and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

AMERICANS FOR PEACE NOW, INC.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents

Money market funds are considered cash equivalents.

Investments

The Organization carries its investments at fair value. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (i.e. the "exit price") in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Unrealized gains and losses are included in the change in net assets.

Generally accepted accounting principles establish a fair value hierarchy for inputs used in measuring fair value that maximizes the use of observable inputs and minimizes the use of unobservable inputs by requiring that the most observable inputs be used when available. Observable inputs are those that market participants would use in pricing the asset based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Organization. Unobservable inputs reflect the Organization's assumptions about the inputs market participants would use in pricing the asset developed based on the best information available in the circumstances. The fair value hierarchy is categorized into three levels based on the inputs as follows:

Level 1 – Valuations based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Organization has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and block discounts are not applied to level 1 measurements. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these securities does not entail a significant degree of judgment.

Level 2 – Valuations based on one or more of the following: quoted prices in active markets for securities which are not identical to those being valued; quoted prices for securities in markets which are not active; inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability being valued, either directly or indirectly.

Level 3 – Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Revenue Recognition

The Organization's revenue is derived primarily from contributions. Contributions are recognized when a donor has made a commitment or pledge to contribute. Generally the Organization's donors communicate their commitment by sending a contribution payment, so the contributions are recognized when the payment is received.

Donated Assets

Donated marketable securities are recorded as contributions at their estimated fair market values at the date of donation. Donated marketable securities are generally sold shortly after they are received.

Expense Allocation

The costs of providing various programs and other activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the statement of activities and in the statement of functional expenses. Program expenses include both costs directly related to specific programs, and an allocation of employee compensation and related expenses based on estimated time spent on program activities. General and administrative expenses include those expenses that are not directly identifiable with any specific programs but provide for the overall support and direction of the Organization.

Income Taxes

No provision for income taxes has been made in these financial statements because the Organization is a nonprofit corporation, exempt from income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Generally accepted accounting principles require management to determine whether a tax position of the Organization is more likely than not to be sustained upon examination by the applicable taxing authority, including resolution of any related appeals or litigation processes, based on the technical merits of the position. The Organization's management has taken the tax position that its activities are not subject to income tax, and management believes it is more likely than not that this position would be sustained on examination. Therefore the financial statements do not reflect any liabilities for income taxes.

Subsequent events

The Organization has evaluated all substantial events through November 8, 2015, the date the financial statements were available to be issued, and has determined that there are no subsequent events which require disclosure in these financial statements.

3. Rental Agreements

The Organization subleases office space in Washington, D.C. from New Israel Fund. The sublease commenced on April 1, 2011 and expires on April 29, 2019. The sub-landlord has the option to terminate the sublease at any time following the fourth anniversary of the commencement date of the sublease. The monthly rent payment at the end of 2014 was $5,738. The rent is scheduled to increase by 4.0% each year on the anniversary of the sublease's commencement date.

The Organization has a security deposit with the sub-landlord in the amount of $15,305.

The Organization rents an apartment in Washington, D.C. as a tenant at will for a monthly rent of $1,850. The apartment is for use by the Organization's president while visiting on business. The Organization rents office space in Los Angeles, California, also as a tenant at will, for a monthly rent of $275.

Total rent expense for the year ended December 31, 2014 was $100,867.

Future minimum rentals required under the Washington D.C. sublease are as follows:

2015	$	71,000
2016		74,000
2017		77,000
2018		80,000
Thereafter		27,000
Total	$	329,000

4. Retirement Plans

The Organization maintains a 403(b) Plan ("Plan") to provide retirement benefits for its employees. Employees may contribute to the Plan, limited to a maximum annual amount as set periodically by the Internal Revenue Service. The Organization does not contribute to the Plan.

The Organization also maintains a defined contribution Simplified Employee Pension Plan ("SEP"). The Organization may make contributions to the SEP in amounts determined annually by the Board of Directors. Contributions are allocated among all eligible employees in proportion to their annual compensation. The Organization made contributions of $29,422 during the year ended December 31, 2014.

AMERICANS FOR PEACE NOW, INC.
 NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
 DECEMBER 31, 2014

5. Related Party Transactions

Three of the Organization's directors also serve as directors of New Israel Fund. As explained in Note 3, the Organization leases office space in Washington, D.C. from New Israel Fund.

6. Investments in Marketable Securities and Mutual Funds

Investments at December 31, 2014 consisted of the following:

	Fair Value	Cost	Unrealized Losses
Marketable Securities	$ 20,824	$ 24,072	$ (3,248)
Mutual Funds	8,492	10,032	(1,540)
Total	$ 29,316	$ 34,104	$ (4,788)

The mutual funds in which the Organization invested are open-end funds which will redeem their shares at net asset value upon request. The Organization values its investments at net asset values as reported by the funds on the balance sheet date. Fair values measured using net asset values in this manner are considered to be based on Level 2 inputs.

Fair value measurements of investments in marketable securities and mutual funds as of December 31, 2014 are summarized as follows:

Quoted Prices In Active Markets for Identical Securities (Level 1)	Significant Other Observable Inputs (Level 2)	Significant Unobservable Inputs (Level 3)	Total
$ 20,824	$ 8,492	$ -	$ 29,316

AMERICANS FOR PEACE NOW, INC.
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

7. Concentrations

The Organization maintains some cash in money market accounts which are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The Organization may occasionally maintain cash balances at a bank in excess of federally-insured limits. During 2014 donations from three individuals accounted for approximately 31% of total donations.

8. Severance Policy

The Board of Directors intends to pay a severance allowance to employees terminated by the Organization for reasons other than performance equal to one week's salary for each year of service. No severance has ever been paid and this contingent liability has not been accrued on the books of the Organization. At December 31, 2014, the maximum exposure under this policy was approximately $213,637, but it is not possible to estimate how much severance expense could be paid in the future.

9. Contingency

From 1997 through early 2006 the Organization occupied office premises in New York City under a sublease. The Organization and other subtenants were guarantors of different percentages of the obligations under the master lease. The owner of the building has brought a claim against the sub-lessor for failure to pay rent starting in 2013. The claim is also made against all subtenants who were guarantors of the master lease. The total amount of the claim, including interest, is approximately $200,000, and the potential exposure to the Organization is its 32.5% share of the guaranty. The Organization has a number of defenses against the claim, and management expects that resolution of the claim will not have a material effect on the Organization's financial position.

Singer and actor Yehoram Gaon is an Israeli icon. His voice has been an integral part of Israel's soundtrack — and mine — for over five decades. His weekly radio talk show has served him as a platform for airing mainstream patriotic views, ranging between the popular and the populist.

I recently watched an interview Gaon gave to a popular Israeli news site. It started with the question: "Are you optimistic?"

Ori Nir
Ori joined Americans for Peace Now in 2006 following a 24-year career in journalism, which was mainly focused on the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Americans for Peace Now

Without hesitation, Gaon replied, "Yes, very," and went on talking about his successful singing and acting career and about it being a labor of love. Toward its end, the interview took a turn toward Israeli public life. Gaon said that, in his mind, life in Israel consists of one continuous war that will never end, and that "the right thing to do is to live with this situation, and conduct ourselves in a manner that will minimize our damage. That's all." He concluded "I am very pessimistic, very pessimistic. I wish it resolving, the conflict were in our hands, but it's not."

An interview that starts with "very optimistic" and ends with "very pessimistic" may seem odd. Unfortunately, for most Israelis there is nothing more natural than the combination of individual exuberance and collective melancholy.

Considering Israel's political environment and recent past, national pessimism is understandable, maybe even inescapable. But is there justification for hopelessness, for the quasi-fatalistic attitude that says a political settlement with the Palestinians is utterly impossible and therefore no action should be taken to advance it?

If you ask the six most recent leaders of Israel's General Security Service (Shin Bet) — and hundreds of other senior Israeli security officials, both current and retired — they will tell you that such an attitude is disastrous. Not only because it rests on factually wrong assumptions, but also because Israel simply cannot afford to despair. If it aspires to survive as a democracy and a Jewish state, it must continue striving for a solution to its dispute with the Palestinians that is based on separation into two sovereign states.

You may have watched "The Gatekeepers," the award-winning documentary with the six most recent Shin Bet chiefs (if you haven't, it's a must). You may also remember receiving an APN letter from the director of "The Gatekeepers", Dror Moreh. I just finished reading the book, a full transcript of Moreh's interviews with the six. The book, published in Hebrew only, is compelling. The Gatekeepers are not cut from the same political cloth. One ran for a seat on Likud's Knesset slate. Others are identified with Israel's center and with the left. Yet all of them agree that a political settlement — difficult to achieve as it may be — is not only necessary but also undoubtedly feasible.

Yaakov Peri, who headed the Shin Bet during the first intifada and the years that followed, said: "I think that the vast majority of those who served — whether in the Shin Bet, Mossad, the Israeli Defense Forces, or other intelligence agencies, end up reaching the conclusion that we cannot win this conflict by intelligence or military means. There is no alternative to a political move."

And Carmi Gillon, who headed the Shin Bet in the mid-1990s, said: "The Shin Bet, because of its constant friction with the field, knows that nothing positive for Israel can emerge from maintaining this conflict, and that lending it is our own interest, not a favor we're doing to the Palestinians, but a favor we are doing to ourselves by trying to reach a settlement."

Even Avi Dichter, who directed the Shin Bet during the second intifada and is now a Likud leader, says his optimism about ending the conflict stems from knowing both peoples, Israelis and Palestinians, and knowing that they both have an interest in normal, peaceful life with the other side.

Asked what is hindering a political settlement, all six concurred that the main reason is lack of leadership — Israeli and Palestinian — "strong, authentic leadership, that talks the talk and walks the walk," in the words of Yuval Diskin, the most recent Shin Bet chief.

Some say that Israel has no leaders. That's not accurate. It actually does have some capable leaders who could do great things — if they choose to do so. That choice must be the result of a combination of forces: pressure from within Israeli society; external pressure, and reality forces that conclusively show that moving toward a diplomatic settlement is preferable to the status quo. Menachem Begin, Yitzhak Rabin and Ariel Sharon all decided to take courageous political action only when they were brought to realize the pitfalls of the status quo.

Americans, even those who care deeply about Israel's future, cannot express their views at Israel's ballots. But our community can play a role in shaping Israel's future by publicly expressing our rejection and repudiation of the status quo. Persuading Israeli leaders to act is going to be difficult, but certainly not impossible. It must be done, and it can be done, and we should always remind ourselves of that. We all deserve some collective optimism.

Dear friend

For pro-peace American Jews and Israelis, billionaire Sheldon Adelson is the object of both fear and scorn.

He's certainly an easy target. Grass and richer than Croesus, he seems to get a blank check for irresponsible remarks, such as calling the Palestinians "an invented people" and advocating a preemptive nuclear strike against Iran. He has made it his mission to thwart a peace deal that would bring a two-state solution to the Israel-Palestinian conflict.

Equally galling is his bankrolling of Israel Hayom, a free newspaper widely criticized as a mouthpiece for Prime Minister Netanyahu that has turned the economics of Israel's traditional newspaper industry on its head.

Yet none of this is illegal. Adelson is putting his money where his mouth is. Attempts in the Knesset to ban Israel Hayom (which helped usher in Israel's March 17 elections) smack of censorship and do nothing to help pro-peace Israelis. In wringing our hands over Sheldon Adelson and trying to silence him, we seem to be suffering the plague of complacency in thinking that, by shutting the paper down, peace will blossom all over.

To promote our pro-Israel, pro-peace message, we as a community need to put our money where our mouths are. We need to respond to the right-wing's well-financed efforts with ones of our own. Americans for Peace Now and Shalom Achshav are poised to lead that response. The accompanying brochure and letter go into further detail about our programs.

To shake off the plague of complacency, we can recall our ancestor Nachshon who, according to the Midrash, stood with the Children of Israel at the shore of the Red Sea as the army of Pharaoh closed in. Nachshon, like all his people, was faced on one side with annihilation by the Egyptians and on the other with drowning by an apparently unfulfilled promise by God to part the waters.

Nachshon did not curse Pharaoh for being crass or rich. He wasn't complacent. He entered the sea. When he was nearly under water, the sea parted and our less visionary ancestors crossed on dry land.

Not was Yossi Alpher, whose letter follows, complacent. In a very different era, his path to becoming a preeminent Israeli security analyst and contributor to Americans for Peace Now was anything but complacent.

In 1964, Yossi was a 21-year-old kid from Washington, D.C. who followed his beliefs and made aliyah. Yossi was not complacent when it came to Israel and its security. He joined the IDF and became an intelligence officer. From there, he went to the Mossad, where he worked for 12 years, and then moved to Tel Aviv University's Jaffee Center for Strategic Studies where he ultimately became director. His half-century fight for Israel's security has come at personal cost.

Yossi lost much of his hearing from the sounds of gunfire during his IDF service.

These are examples of people who analyzed the risks, made their decision, and jumped in. Now, at Passover, I call on you to abandon complacency. We can go toe-to-toe with the Sheldon Adelsons and the Irving Moskowitzs - another right-wing American millionaire whose strategy to kill an Israeli-Palestinian agreement is to buy Arab-owned land in East Jerusalem and transfer it to Jews.

We are more numerous than they are. We don't have to work to shut down Israel Hayom. What is stopping us from making our own headlines?

We know that a majority of Israelis continue to support a two-state solution, reflected even in polls conducted by Adelson's Israel Hayom. We also know that most Israelis understand that the two-state solution is the only way to preserve Israel's character as a secure, Jewish, democratic state. In fact, another recent poll shows that over 60 percent of modern Orthodox Israelis believe that safeguarding Israel's Jewish character is more important than maintaining control of the West Bank.

APN and our sister organization, Peace Now, are working every day to bring about the vision of these pro-peace Israelis. But we need your support.

Because we lose by being complacent, by ceding the fight to the right and its bankrollers. By being complacent, we lose to the BDS movement, which thrives on Israel's seeming indifference to the occupation and endless settlement building. Worse, the situation is pushing those who are merely frustrated with Israeli policies into the arms of those BDS-ers who genuinely hate Israel or cover their anti-Semitism with anti-Zionist rhetoric.

We need the pro-Israel, pro-peace community to step up to the plate. If you are dismayed and alarmed by Adelson, Irving Moskowitz, and others working to kill the two-state solution, then don't just say "I'll show it."

Be like Yossi Alpher. Be like Nachshon. Make a splash. Help support APN today.

When the U.S.-sponsored Israeli-Palestinian negotiations failed last year, many on the right said the best Israel could do is "manage" the Palestinian problem. They were, in effect, inviting their fellow citizens to be complacent as settlements continued to be built and the possibility of a two-state solution receded into oblivion.

But Israel, and its supporters, cannot be complacent because the absence of a Palestinian state is a threat to Israel.

Without an Arab-state political affiliation for the Arabs of the West Bank and Gaza, Israel will continue to be seen as an occupier and, increasingly, as an apartheid state that is losing its Zionist, Jewish and democratic nature. Israel's ties to its allies in Europe will continue to weaken and the BDS movement will continue to feed on frustration with an Israel that does not attempt to adhere to the norms of the West. —Yossi Alpher

Since 2001 I have filed more than 600 weekly "Hard Questions, Tough Answers" columns for Americans for Peace Now that frequently deal with the Israel-Palestinian conflict.

I've also recently published a book, Periphery: Israel's Search for Middle East Allies, which focuses primarily on dynamics that developed in Israel's early decades when, surrounded by a hostile Arab nationalist "core" spearheaded by Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser, Jerusalem formed strategic links with non-Arab actors on the outskirts or "periphery" of the region like Iran, Turkey, Ethiopia and the Iraqi Kurds.

One of the striking aspects of Israel's periphery alliances of the 1950s and '60s is that they had virtually nothing to do with the Palestinian issue.

After all, at that time in Middle East and international history, Jordan ruled the West Bank and East Jerusalem, Egypt occupied the Gaza Strip, and Arab citizens of Israel were quiescent under IDF military government. Back then, Israel could link up with allies on the Middle East geographical and ethnic periphery without discussing the Palestinian issue.

Today, Iran and Turkey are associated with a hostile new Middle East Islamist core, while Israel's political leadership professes to be moving toward a new and different regional alliance, this time with "moderate" Arab states like Egypt, Jordan and Saudi Arabia. Here, unlike in the past, the Palestinian issue is very evident. According to Prime Minister Netanyahu and Foreign Minister Lieberman, Cairo, Amman and Riyadh will now help Jerusalem resolve the Palestinian issue with a minimum of Israeli concessions because they need Israel to stand with them against Iran, the Islamic State and al-Qaeda.

These Israeli leaders consistently misread the Arab Peace Initiative put forward in 2002 by Saudi then-Crown Prince Abdullah, which makes it pretty clear what sort of two-state solution Israel has to come up with if it wants the friendship of the Arab world. Never mind that all three Arab "allies" constantly repeat the mantra that without a two-state solution they cannot deepen their ties with Israel. Never mind that Cairo and Amman are so traumatized by the Islamist threat, by Israel's wars with Hamas and by the total absence of a peace process that even as they cooperate with Israel at the security level, Egypt no longer maintains an ambassador in Israel and Israel cannot reopen its embassy in Cairo.

Never mind that even the non-Islamist "Arab street" in those capitals will never countenance closer cooperation with Israel until and unless there is a two-state solution. And ignore the fact that, as the propagator of extremist Wahabi Islam throughout the Arab world and Pakistan, Saudi Arabia is part of the militant Islamist problem, not the solution.

Sixty years ago, our potential friends could ignore the Palestinian issue; today, nobody can. Sixty years ago, we were so self-assured in our Jewish and democratic identity that we didn't even need to talk about it. Now we desperately need a Palestinian solution in both contexts: making and maintaining friends, and remaining who we want and need to be. We need a Palestinian solution to survive, not in the immediate security sense but in the most profound existential sense.

Periphery touches only once on the Palestinian issue. In drawing conclusions from Israel's attempts to reach and maintain regional alliances, I made this observation:

Is Israel as isolated as a villa in a dangerous jungle? Or is it a successful global player? In a way, both descriptions fit. Yet what is striking about both questions is that they perforce ignore the issue closest to home, the one generating the impression of growing isolation: the Palestinians. While in the near future the Palestinian issue is not liable to precipitate a major Arab-Israel war, the demographic existential threat it projects to Israel's very being as a Jewish, Zionist, and democratic state only grows with every new Israeli settlement, every neighborhood encircling Arab East Jerusalem, and every new expression of Palestinians' frustration with the prospects of a state of their own — even if the Palestinian camp bears a significant portion of the blame for this state of affairs. Soothing reassurances from the pro-settler camp to the effect that this problem will somehow solve itself are, to put it mildly, lacking in strategic objectivity — indeed, lacking in strategic essence, insofar as they are messianic.

If Israel cannot separate itself from the Palestinians... it risks drifting into de facto apartheid or some form of bi-national Jewish-Arab state... The apartheid-like state increasingly contemplated by Israel's dominant and complacent pro-settler right wing would be a repugnant partner internationally...

And if, eventually, after failing to separate itself from the Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza, Israel folds into a bi-national state where the Jews are destined to become a minority... It will simply fit all too nicely into the Muslim Arab Middle East core.

This is where complacency will lead us. And this is the challenge confronting Americans for Peace Now (APN) and Shalom Achshav.

At a time when both the Israeli and the Palestinian political systems — each in its own very different way — are seemingly incapable of agreeing on the creation of a Palestinian state alongside Israel, APN proceeds every day to remind the Obama administration and Congress that the Israeli policies they tolerate are moving Israel toward disaster.

It is very much in the U.S. interest that Israel continue to be a Jewish and democratic state. The absence of a solution to the conflict jeopardizes that American — and Israeli — need.

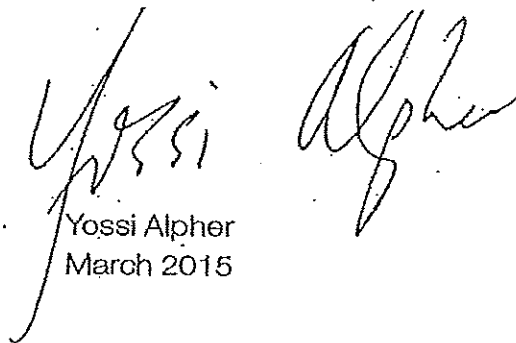

In Israel itself, Shalom Achshav, which is supported by APN, is anything but complacent. It makes sure the public and the courts hear about the construction of every additional settlement housing unit that implements those policies and every one-sided ministerial move that favors the settlements over the needs of the vast majority of Israelis.

We need to prevent a hyper-messianic faction of Israelis from destroying the fabric of Israel, turning it into a conflicted and violent bi-national entity that no longer has any use for grand strategies and, as a disastrous by-product, orphaning the Diaspora. Toward this end, nothing could be more important than supporting APN.

You are not complacent, so please make a contribution that will allow APN and Shalom Achshav to continue their work.
