On September 25, 2007, the Secretary of the Commonwealth issued an adjudication and order upholding the Bureau's Cease and Desist Order issued July 27, 2006, against Colmar Volunteer Fire Company. The Secretary found that the fire company: (1) was not registered with the Bureau of Charitable Organizations ("BCO"); (2) was soliciting charitable contributions in Pennsylvania; and (3) failed to respond to the BCO's request for information in order for BCO to determine if registration was required under the Solicitation of Funds for Charitable Purposes Act. The adjudication held that the charity was required to register, in that it did not demonstrate that it qualified for any exemption from registration, and thus the cease and desist order remains in effect until registration is effected or an exemption granted. On June 5, 2008, the Commonwealth Court affirmed the Bureau's determination that Colmar's use of professional fundraising counsel triggered registration under the Solicitation of Funds for Charitable Purposes Act.
